

ARMOUR SYSTEMS®

museum showcases

A photograph of a museum gallery. The room features modern, light-colored glass display cases with white bases, arranged in a hallway. The walls are a deep red color, and the floor is made of light-colored wood. The lighting is bright and focused on the exhibits. In the background, there are more display cases and a doorway leading to another part of the museum.

We are the exclusive licensee for Armour Systems + Museum Workshop showcases for the UK and Europe.

We are dedicated to the protection, preservation and presentation of our cultural heritage.

Design and systems engineering, employing innovative materials and lighting technology, is at the heart of what we do.

We have collaborated with leading designers and architects for over 25 years, on the production and installation of advanced showcase and display solutions for museums, galleries and private collections.
